

Learning and Assessment Industry

We help you succeed at helping them succeed

Create, review, manage, and deliver quality-assured content for learning and assessments. Your teams of experts can use XDocs simple, cloud-based tools to create and update the content required for learning and assessments. Your experts can also use simple, cloud-based tools to review the content with tracked changes and comments.

XDocs makes managing users and content easy and provides a full audit trail where versions of content can be instantly compared with changes highlighted. Exercise full control over content versions while you track approvals and publish your approved content to multiple formats, devices, audiences, and languages.

Respond with agility to changing requirements. Move from one assessment into the next with ease and confidence. We can help you remain a relevant, trusted member of the learning and assessment community.

We can help you respond with agility to changing requirements—and remain a relevant, trusted member of the learning and assessment community.

Your teams of experts can use XDocs simple, cloud-based tools to create content for learning and assessments. Quality is assured as your team of experts use cloud-based tools to review, request further changes, and approve the content. XDocs provides you with agile tools, so you can respond to changing requirements from assessment to assessment—and respond efficiently to last minute changes.

Deliver your approved learning and assessment content to all of your audiences, such as examiners and examinees, and deliver the content to any number of outputs, such as PDF, electronic format, and InDesign.

Translate and manage the translations to track which content has been updated since the last translation cycle. Publish your translated content, like your source language content, to all of your audiences and to any number of outputs.
